WHAT

We invite all CEOAS students, faculty, and staff to become part of a professional learning community started by CEOAS graduate students. Join us in this first session of a discussion series!

Our aim is to:

- Spark curiosity in topics of equity, diversity, and inclusion within our college
- Create a space where everyone can learn from one another
- Build a stronger and more inclusive CEOAS community

Beyond OSU:

SACNAS 2020 Workshop

Creating our own spaces of inclusion
Advocating for equity by women graduate students of color in predominantly white STEM fields

Date: Thursday, October 22

Time: 1-2 PM PDT (UTC-7)

This session will provide students and early career professionals with approaches for promoting equity and social justice in STEM disciplines. Panelists will share their process of establishing a learning community as an effort to create spaces of inclusion in fields historically dominated by white men.

Participants will be invited to imagine and consider how they might realize social justice outcomes at their respective institutions.
